With compassion and clarity, I help individuals and families navigate the complexities of family law. I am devoted to understanding your history, priorities, and goals, so that I can advocate for you at this trying time in your life. Whether you're facing divorce, parenting disputes, support modification or other family law issue, I ensure you understand the process, the laws, and how they apply to your unique circumstances. With this knowledge, we develop a strategy for your case and help you make confident, informed decisions for your future.

As a shareholder at Henson Efron, I bring to my practice more than a decade of experience representing clients in family law, combined with the invaluable perspective I gained as a law clerk in Hennepin County Family Court. I handle various family law issues including complex property division with nonmarital assets and/or business interests, child support, spousal maintenance, custody, and parenting time.

I believe in resolving disputes efficiently and amicably whenever possible through alternative dispute resolution, because it empowers clients to tailor the terms to suit their family's unique interests and needs. However, when litigation is necessary, I am a zealous and prepared advocate, ensuring my clients' voices are heard and their interests protected.
